Supplementary Fig. 3. The top 50 families found in the leaf endosphere. The names of the families are arranged vertically according to their relative abundance, with higher abundance families located towards the top. The regions where the samples were collected are listed at the top. The families colored in red represent the top 10 families regardless of the region.